

Facilitator's Short Biography

Martin Noltze is senior evaluator at the Competence Center for Evaluation Methodologies of the German Institute for Development Evaluation (DEval). He has 15 years of experience as an evaluator and has taught several workshops at international conferences, including two EES professional development workshops on “contribution analysis” (in 2016 in the Netherlands) and “causal mechanism analysis” (in 2022 in Denmark), in ministries and development organizations. At DEval, Martin works on the advancement of evaluation methods and designs in the field complex development interventions and has published a range of reports and articles on topics related to development, sustainability, climate and evaluation. He holds a MSc in economic geography and a PhD in agricultural economics.

Sven Harten is Deputy Director at the German Institute for Development Evaluation (DEval) and heading the Competence Centre for Evaluation Methodologies. He holds a PhD in political science from the LSE and has more than 20 years of experience in designing, implementing and managing more than 50 evaluations in the field of development cooperation. Main evaluation themes are currently climate change adaptation, financial cooperation (especially blended finance), private sector (MSME) as well as evaluation criteria, quality and standards. Previously, Sven worked at the World Bank (IFC), the European Commission as well as for evaluation consultancy firms. He lived more than 10 years in developing countries (Africa and Latin America) and has travelled extensively on evaluation missions in these regions. Sven has comprehensive teaching and workshop facilitation experience, for instance as lecturer at universities, trainer in multilateral organizations or facilitator of evaluation capacity development activities in developing countries. He has given trainings in German, English, Spanish, French and Dutch.

Alexandra Königeter is an evaluator at the Competence Center for Evaluation Methodologies of the German Institute for Development Evaluation (DEval). At DEval Alexandra is working on thematic evaluations in the areas of climate, energy and environment. Prior to joining DEval, she worked as an advisor on mainstreaming ecosystem-based Adaptation (EbA) at the Deutsche Gesellschaft für Internationale Zusammenarbeit (GIZ) and as a visiting researcher on carbon insetting at the International Center for Tropical Agriculture (CIAT) in Nicaragua. She studied geography (B.Sc., M.Sc.) and economics (B.Sc.) in Heidelberg, Santiago de Chile and Bonn with a focus on environmental economics, health economics, development policy and geographical development studies.